

Papa: "Sometimes you skip food for a little while so the tummy pictures come out clear."

An empty tummy makes the clearest pictures, so we waited on breakfast.

My tummy is a little rumbley!

Dr. Anaya: “Drinking water to fill the bladder helps show the kidneys and lower tummy clearly.”

So much water!

A full water balloon tummy helps us see certain organs. Keep sipping!

Dr. Anaya: "A squirt of warm, clear gel helps the sound waves make pictures."

Here comes the warm, jiggly gel. It helps the pictures pictures travel!

It's warm and squishy!

The technician glides a smooth wand over the belly with light pressure to capture pictures.

I'll slide the camera wand gently to take photos — like a smooth ice skater.

It's ticklish and cool!

At the end, a warm towel wipes the gel away, leaving your skin completely dry.

All done!
Let's wipe off the
gel with a cozy
warm towel.

Nice and dry again!
